[1839 Nov. 28]

Accordingly virtually
signified my acceptance of the invitation, and shall make arrangements
for breaking up and
removing in April.

The prospects of the Society are quite discouraging, though I shall be the sole clinical lecturer - by the way a region of nearly a thousand miles radius. (Rather perhaps, five hundred). I try again to be very non-objectionable, to consider kindly my
age and infirmities,
and to allow me

very opportunity to present my publishing labors, as I may be able to carry them on. They offer me about $600 per-
an., which is as good as $1500 per. Some of the first & finest men in the place
are engaged in the enterprise.

Your proposition took with me
not a little, and
could the sine qua non
of support, &c. have been made sure, I should at that time
